Washington Notes

F. C. L. Plans Rain

The Federal Communications Commission proves to make rainmaking experiments this winter and summer programs that are typical of the new policies announced by Chairman Frederick W. Ford. It also proposes a rule that would require every new broadcasting station to post a performance bond for $1,000, or underwrite payment for advertising on programs, without announcements that the commercials were paid for.

Fund For Probes Weighed

With the need apparently already met, the Senate recently completed action on requests for nearly $3,500,000 for executive investigations.

Senator Bridges (R.-N.H.) previously stated that the annual total has grown to that figure from $400,000 in 1946. He called the budget for other branches "alarming" and unjust.

Trade Urged

Senate United States industries ought to encourage to compete in foreign markets, says Assistant Secretary of Commerce Henry Kearns.

Kearns wants the government to supply the necessary leadership to bring increases of from one to two billion dollars in a move to boost the amount of United States goods sold abroad.

Patents Pending?

If you have inventive patentable, and if you think you may get a patent and a sale.

Reporting this to a subcommittee of the House Commerce Committee of Patents, Watson said his office is doing "the most prompt examination of patents that it's ever done in the history of the service."

Need To Share Aid

The United States is the other nation-Communist to accept an increasing share of the burden of raising world standards.

This point was emphasized by President

In Yesterday Now

The new clothes are best described as more or less as they have been before. The new dresses look often more an eye-catching item under the seam.

The stately new features a bigger back or a row of ornate buttons down the side or back to give it a bit more line. Mounted-back shirtdresses will be popular.

To qualify as new a hat must be big, pulky, and light in weight.

Black is an important color. The little smock dresses that marked the chic woman a few years ago will be as necessary a part of the wardrobe for any woman who gets around a good bit.

Taupe will be a favorite neutral. The outstanding two colors of suffront will be used as trim on many suits and dresses. Green will be used as a contrast, and dressed up with all shades of brown and pick-up with saffron.

The new reds will go by such names as cedar and redwood. The true reds will be worn again used for the little red cocktail dress or the short red coat, so becoming on a drab winter day.

The fur-enhanced suit, often double breasted in cut, will add a new flavor to the classic suit line.

Children Are Larger!

Today's children are larger than children of 40 to 50 years ago.

Home economists point out that children not only are growing faster, but they reach the adolescent growth spurt earlier. Better diets, improved economic conditions, better disease control, and more emphasis on outdoor recreation are some of the reasons given for the growth spurt.

Physical measurements of children in one state in 1939 and 1951 were compared. In those 12 years the children had become larger on the average. Boys and girls 9 years old were as large as those of 10 in 1939.

That Dirty Dog!

Atlanta, Ga.- One of the Atlanta Police Department's new police dogs got his first man. He bit a policeman.

Patrolman Jack Scott said he and his partner answered a call recently and were sitting in their squad car when Patrolman J. P. Harrison drove up in another car with a dog named "Rifi."

Harrison and "Rifi" went over to the other patrol car. The dog leaped up at the window and bit officer Scott on the hand.

Meter Meddler?

Salt Lake City.- Because some unknown thief has been looting money from parking meters, police asked citizens to report anyone seen tampering with the meter boxes.

Diligent citizens responded so well that one authorized meter collector was picked up for questioning three times in one day.
